Scope and Content Note

The papers of Timothy Asch document his career as an anthropologist, educator, photographer and filmmaker through correspondence, photographs, research files (articles and notes), and teaching materials (course information and lecture notes). The files relating to Asch's film projects include articles, field notes, and reviews. The major correspondents in this collection are Patsy Asch, Tom Beidelman, Napoleon Chagnon, James Fox, Robert Gardner, Douglas Lewis, Peter Loizos, David & Olga Sapir, and Minor White.

Related Materials

The Human Studies Film Archives holds 93,000 feet (43 hours) of the original film footage and the accompanying sound as well as the edited films from the 1968 and 1971 film projects by Timothy Asch and Napoleon Chagnon documenting the Yanomamo Indians of southern Venezuela and northern Brazil (between the Negro and Upper Orinoco rivers).

Series 1: Correspondence (1953-1994)

6 linear feet

The correspondence in this series relates to Asch's academic career, his family, and film projects. The major correspondents are Patsy Asch, Tom Beidelman, Napoleon Chagnon, James Fox, Robert Gardner, Douglas Lewis, Peter Loizos, David & Olga Sapir, Minor White as well as the institutions at which he taught (The Australian National University, Brandeis University, and the University of Southern California). This series is not exclusive as there is correspondence in other series. All attachments such as articles, envelopes, pamphlets, photographs, etc. were kept with the appropriate letters. This series is arranged alphabetically by correspondent's last name or institution name. The letters are in chronological order within the folders except for those in alphabetical files (i.e. Letter A, Letter B). Letters with no last name are arranged chronologically. Unidentified letters (i.e. no last name or date) are located in the Miscellaneous Correspondence files.

Series 3: Teaching Materials (1964-1993)
10 linear feet

This series documents Asch's teaching career through class projects, course information, lecture notes, and student papers. Some of these materials relate to Asch's film projects. Asch's academic career was varied. His first position was as a Visiting Assistant Professor at New York University from 1968 to 1970. He also worked at Brandeis University (1969 – 1973) and Harvard University (1974 – 1976). He relocated to Australia in 1976 where he served as a Senior Research Fellow at the Australian National University from 1976 to 1981 and a Visiting Research Scholar at Macquarie University in 1982. Asch returned to the United States in 1982 when accepted a position at the University of Southern California. In addition, Asch served as an ethnographic film consultant for Harvard University's Peabody Museum (1959-1962). He participated into Ethnographic studies and the Bushmen Social Studies Curriculum Project (initially Educational Services, Inc., later called Educational Development Center) as a curriculum consultant (1965-1966). From 1966 to 1968, he served as an Anthropology Curriculum and Media Consultant to the Newton Public Schools. Asch was also Director and Co-Founder of Documentary Educational Resources, a non-profit curriculum development corporation distributing educational media. This series was sorted by institution or subject and then arranged alphabetically.

Series 12: Sound Recordings (Bulk 1960s-1970s)6 linear feet

This series contains both 5" and 7" reel to reel audio recordings as well as cassette tapes. The recordings are both ethnographic and personal in nature. A preliminary index is available for use in the reading room. Use copies of these recordings will be made for researchers upon demand.

Series 13: Note Slips, Rolodexes, and Business Cards9 linear feet

This series contains a hodgepodge of business cards, rolodexes, and notes. The materials were left in the order in which they arrived at the archives. The notes (bibliographies and resources) cover a variety of topics including filmmaking and the Dodoth and were taken throughout Asch's career though some date from his sabbatical in 1987.
